Thig còmhla rinn air turas!

The little, unassuming northern tip of the Isle of Britain is enveloped in a mysterious, otherworldly veil that leaves many of us intrigued, wanting to know more. What is it about Scotland that's so appealing?

Is it its rugged landscapes, covered with a fog of clouds that could erupt in showers at any moment? Is it the unmistakable call of its bagpipes? The stony ruins left from its fierce history? The oft blood-spilled fight for its religious freedom? It's delightful people and their impeccable whiskey?

We say a resounding yes! to all of it — and more. All of our lives are a long pilgrimage to our true Home, so while we wait and make ourselves ready, we are also invited to embark on pilgrimages here on earth to let God speak to us in remarkable places.

A pilgrimage to Scotland is an invitation to do just that: to let Jesus meet you in a surprising way through its mystic islands, rocky landscapes, historic stories, and rugged way of life, reflecting over all this with likeminded pilgrims over sips of local whiskey.

Your Spiritual Guide

On a boat in the Aegean Sea between Greek islands (summer 2025).

Fr. Gabe Bouck is a native of Memphis and a convert to Catholicism from his roots as a Southern Baptist. He's a nerd with a tech and music background who loves Jesus and His Church, and he loves traveling and seeing the world through a Catholic lens. He also loves bourbon and singing karaoke.

He was the spiritual guide and priest for the Oxenreider's pilgrimage to Greece in 2024, and they're thrilled to have him join them again!

Your Trip Leaders

Kyle & Tsh Oxenreider are explorers down to their bones, and ever since they met on a dirt road in war-torn Kosovo 25-plus years ago, travel has been in their family's DNA. They've lived in Kosovo and Turkey and traveled to well over thirty countries, including having led six group pilgrimages. A decade ago they took their three kids on a round-the-globe journey, spending a school year learning from the greatest textbook there is: the world.

Because of all this (not in spite of!), they love being home in their cozy small town in Georgetown, Texas, where they spend their weekends renovating an old house and walking to coffee shops and the library.

Kyle is a small business owner by day, father extraordinaire to two teens and a young adult by night, and loves all things outdoors.

Tsh is an experienced travel guide, high school humanities teacher, and author of six books (plus more on the way) including At Home in the World: Reflections on Belonging While Wandering the Globe. She is also the writer behind the popular newsletter The Commonplace and host of the podcast A Drink With a Friend, both of which explore all of ordinary life through a sacramental lens. Her favorite job title of all time though, of course, is mom.

Both Kyle and Tsh are Catholic converts after spending most of their lives as devoted evangelicals and then Anglicans. They're beyond grateful for discovering, after years of searching for where they could best find the presence of Jesus, the fullness of the Church established by Christ. There's little that encourages them more than connecting on pilgrimage with all brothers and sisters, be they Catholic, Protestant, Orthodox, or wherever God has them, and sharing real-world experiences around the globe together.

Their favorite style of travel? Laid-back adventure. When you travel with the Oxenreiders, you'll try new things and ask new questions about the world and your place in it, but not at the cost of unwise risk. You'll learn from locals, trod on old soil, and spend time each day unpacking what you've learned, often over a pint or a glass of something at the local pub.

They'd love you to join them this time in Scotland!

Saturday, July 18 - DAY 1: Depart for Scotland

The group will depart Newark International Airport on an overnight flight to Edinburgh, with dinner and breakfast served on the plane (quotes for add-on flights from different airports and optional Premium Economy and Business Class upgrades are available upon request and will be provided starting 120 days prior to departure). Group air restrictions (for ten passengers traveling together) do not permit specific seating requests on flights—therefore, we recommend purchasing your own airline tickets and opting for land-only packages with us if seat confirmation is important to you.

Sunday, July 19 - DAY 2: Arrive in Edinburgh

Welcome to Scotland! We'll meet our guide and bus driver at the airport, who'll then transfer us to this great city. To ward of jet lag as quickly as possible, we'll enjoy a guided tour of Edinburgh Castle and have time to explore the Royal Mile in the historic heart of the city. That evening, we'll gather for our introductory orientation and welcome dinner at the hotel, then enjoy a good night's sleep. (dinner included)

Monday, July 20 - DAY 3: Sterling Castle & William Wallace

We depart for Stirling, where the castle dominates the skyline. Childhood home of Mary Queen of Scots, the castle stands on a volcanic rock on the border between the Highlands and the Lowlands, and was nicknamed the 'Key to Scotland' as the home of the Stewart kings and queens. Stirling Castle was already a formidable fortress when William Wallace defeated the English at Stirling Bridge, and after Robert

Bruce's victory at nearby Bannockburn, he had the walls destroyed to prevent them from falling into English hands. It was at the center of Scotland's wars of independence in the 13th and early 14th centuries, and remains a rallying symbol whenever talk of Scottish independence is in the air. We'll tour the castle and view the 220-foot high tower of the National Wallace Monument, commemorating Scotland's great hero, William Wallace. Afterwards, we'll continue to our hotel in Oban for check-in, dinner, and overnight. (breakfast & dinner included)

Tuesday, July 21 - DAY 4: Inveraray Highland Games

What a treat to experience the unique occasion of the Highland Games on the Inveraray Castle grounds, where the Scottish heritage and culture preserved over centuries are on full display. Watch the sports competition, traditional Highland music and dancing, clansmen dressed in their clan tartans, and enjoy the food and beverage stalls as well as art displays. Later, you may want to explore Inveraray Castle (entrance is included). Dinner and overnight at our hotel in Oban. (breakfast & dinner included)

Wednesday, July 22 - DAY 5: Isle of Skye

Today we'll enjoy a full-day excursion of the Isle of Skye. We'll board a ferry for Armadale on the southern tip of Skye, then set out on a scenic drive, passing through the jagged peaks of the Cuillin Hills, known for their dark, rocky summits. In the fishing town of Portree, we'll enjoy lunch at a local pub, then we'll stop at Glenfinnan Viewpoint for impressive views (you'll recognize them from the Harry Potter novels and films). We'll then return to the mainland via the Skye Bridge and stop to see the iconic Eilean Donan Castle at the junction of three lochs. Dinner and overnight at our hotel in Oban. (breakfast, lunch, & dinner included)

Thursday, July 23 - DAY 6: Loch Ness, Falconry, & Inverness

We'll spend today exploring the northern Highlands, beginning with the fabled Loch Ness of cultural lore. Driving the full 23-mile length of the lake, we'll soak in the scenery and hear local tales of the mythical creature said to inhabit the deep (and then enjoy a ride on the lake, anticipating what lies deep under the calm waters). Then, at Dunrobin Castle and Gardens we'll learn about Scotland's age-old falconry practice and witness a demonstration. Our last stop is the Culloden Moor Center, where we'll hear about the last battle of the Jacobite Rising (familiar to the fans of the Outlander series), which took place here in 1746, and then enjoy some local shopping. Inverness is known for its local music scene, which you may want to explore tonight. Dinner and overnight at our hotel in Inverness. (breakfast & dinner included)

Friday, July 24 - DAY 7: The Highland History & Countryside

Today we'll learn about the prehistory of the Highlands as we follow the famous Pictish Trail, which links Iron Age and Celtic sites. We'll discover the history and culture of the ancient Picts at the acclaimed Tarbat Discovery Center, then enjoy a late afternoon drive along the coast which will bring us through rolling farmland where sheep, cows, and Shetland ponies graze in verdant pastures. Dinner is at your leisure. Overnight at our hotel in Inverness. (breakfast included)

Saturday, July 25 - DAY 8: Sheepdogs & Whiskey

In Kingussie we'll enjoy a tour of a family-owned sheepdog farm, where we'll meet the border collie dogs, learn about their training, and gain an understanding of the commands used in their herding by watching them adeptly herd their charges with a demonstration. Later we'll travel to Pitlochry, a town in the heart of Scotland, where we'll visit the Blair Athol Distillery for a tour and tasting of their Scottish whiskey. Afterwards, we'll enjoy some free time to stroll through the charming town center. Dinner and overnight at our hotel in Dundee. (breakfast & dinner included)

Sunday, July 26 - DAY 9: The Fife Way & St. Andrews

The Fife Pilgrim's Way is a 56-mile path from Culross on the Firth of Forth to St. Andrews. Because the local legend tells us St. Andrews' relics were brought here, it's become a local holy hotspot and has thus made this small seaside town Scotland's little Jerusalem. Today we'll walk the scenic, woodland 1.5-mile Lade Breas path in St. Andrews, past villages and coastal vistas to the spectacular ruins of St. Andrew's Cathedral. Once we're in St. Andrews, the home of golf, you may want to grab a traditional pub lunch or grab a sandwich as you wander the town before we depart for Edinburgh and settle into our hotel. Tonight we'll also enjoy our farewell group dinner at a local restaurant. Overnight in Edinburgh. (breakfast & farewell dinner included)

Monday, July 27 - DAY 10: Rosslyn Chapel & Traquair House OR Day of Leisure in Edinburgh

Today you'll have choice on how you spend your last full day in Scotland (let our guide know of your choice 24 hours beforehand).

Option 1:

Our full day will start after breakfast with a drive through the countryside to the historic 15th-century Rosslyn Chapel, formally known as the Collegiate Chapel of St. Matthew. The purpose of the college was to celebrate the Divine Office all day and night, as well as to celebrate

Holy Mass for all the faithful departed, including the deceased members of the Sinclair family. Following the Scottish Reformation in 1560, Catholic worship ceased in the chapel, and from that time, the chapel was closed to public worship until 1861, when it was opened again as a place of worship according to the rites of the Scottish Episcopal Church. Since the late 1980s, the chapel has also been featured in speculative theories concerning a connection between Freemasonry, the Knights Templar, and the Holy Grail (it was prominently featured in the 2003 bestseller The Da Vinci Code and its 2006 film adaptation). Rosslyn Chapel remains privately owned, currently by Peter St Clair-Erskine, the 7th Earl of Rosslyn.

We'll then continue with a private guided tour to Traquair House, one of the oldest continually inhabited Catholic houses in Scotland, where we'll see an exhibition of 300-year-old priests' vestments. Throughout the Reformation, the family continued to practice their prohibited faith, and a priest often lived with the family, doubling up as a tutor for the children. He'd live in a small room at the top of the house, which acted as both a chapel and his living quarters (you'll find a secret escape route behind a corner bookcase that leads to the original turnpike stone stairs for a quick exit!).

The house also contains a brewery that makes Jacobite and House Ale—after a brewery tour, we'll enjoy sampling the ales. This Scottish site is an important Catholic house whose family kept the faith for hundreds of years through turbulent times. The chapel, where we'll celebrate Mass, was built in 1829 following the passage of the Catholic Emancipation Act, which granted Catholics the freedom to publicly worship. The chapel is situated immediately above the brew house, wafting some “heavenly” smells from underneath. We'll then finally return to Edinburgh for dinner at leisure to enjoy our last evening in Scotland. Overnight at our hotel in Edinburgh. (breakfast included)

Option 2:

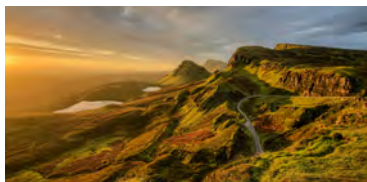

Enjoy a full day at your leisure to explore Edinburgh at your own pace, visiting places you might still have on your checklist: perhaps Holyroodhouse Castle, the two-hour Harry Potter tour, or local museums and shops. Dinner is at your leisure. Overnight at our hotel in Edinburgh. (breakfast included)

Tuesday, July 28 - DAY 11: Return Home

This morning we'll transfer to the airport for our flights home, taking with us new friendships and memories that'll last for years! (breakfast included)

FAQ

What is the group size?

This group will be a maximum of 50 people.

When will group participants be revealed to each other?

You'll officially meet each other either en route (if you choose group airfare) or at our welcome orientation and dinner the first day. You'll connect via email with Kyle and Tsh a few weeks before departure.

Will children be on the trip? (Or can I bring mine?)

Possibly! This trip includes a lot of walking, so the minimum age is 8 years old. If you join us, you are open to learning from fellow pilgrims of all ages, from young adventurers to senior travelers.

Is this trip only for Christians? Or even Catholic Christian-only?

Not at all. Tsh and Kyle are Catholic Christians, and as such, their worldviews are a natural outflow of their faith. Naturally, the conversations throughout the week follow suit. But one of the features (not a bug!) of their pilgrimages in particular is the eclectic spiritual background of the participants: Catholic, Protestant, Orthodox, or what-have-you.

Will there be chats about the intersection of travel and faith? Yes, absolutely. Will we have (optional) Mass with Fr. Gabe, a Catholic priest who's joining us as a fellow pilgrim? Yes. Will you have a chance to ask questions about "weird Catholic stuff"? Also yes. But they trust that God knows where you're at, and there's no pressure to be anyone but you.

What should I pack?

Layers are key to helping you pack as light as you can. The Scottish Highlands are known for their cloudy, overcast weather (even in the summer), and temps will vary as we traverse through hills and valleys. Comfortable walking shoes are also a must—we'll be trekking a lot! You may also want to toss into your bag something simple you enjoy wearing out for the evening. But on the whole, this trip is for ordinary pilgrims, and we highly recommend packing light.

Why do the Oxenreiders partner with Select International?

Tsh has led trips on her own before, and they're a lot of work to plan. As a full-time writer, teacher, and mother, planning a unique trip of this magnitude is often an additional full-time job! Select International has a longstanding track record of excellence in the travel industry and the people behind the scenes are fantastic. Plus, they're able to make the trip more affordable than if Kyle & Tsh ran it on their own! They've loved working with them over the years for their pilgrimages to Italy, Ireland, Greece, and Rhine River, and are thrilled to work with them again.
